FUNDAMENTALS of COMPLEX TRAUMA and DISSOCIATION

Saturday, March 17, 2018

9:00 am – 4:30 pm

Presented by NESTTD in joint sponsorship with the Institute of Continuing Education and Lesley University. Held at Lesley University, Brattle Campus.

This program is designed for graduate students, behavioral health and social service providers, and those who are new to learning about and working with the complex trauma spectrum. Topics introduced in the morning session will include the concept of developmental trauma, the basics of relevant neurobiological research, core problems of survivors, assessment of dissociation, and the stages of trauma treatment. The afternoon workshops will explore more specific aspects of helping clients.
